Day 02:: KATHMANDU | Half day city tour and Preparation

Today, after a restful night's sleep at one of Kathmandu's luxury hotels, you'll kick off your day with an American-style breakfast. Then, our guide and tour guide will pick you up for a half-day tour of Kathmandu city. The tour includes a visit to the Monkey Temple, also known as Swayambhunath, followed by exploration of UNESCO World Heritage sites, including Durbar Square. Here, you'll be captivated by attractions such as Hanuman Dhoka Palace and Kumari Ghar, home to the Living Goddess - Kumari. You'll also have the opportunity to visit numerous temples in Kathmandu Durbar Square. Afterward, we'll proceed to Boudhanath, one of the world's largest stupas, where you'll enjoy a lunch break at a rooftop restaurant. Following the tour, you'll return to the hotel to check your gear. Our Sherpa climbing guide will assist you in checking your climbing gear, and if necessary, you can purchase any additional items at Thamel, where our guide will be available to help.

Continuing our expedition, we'll make our way to the charming town of Dumre, nestled beside the Marsyangdi River. The scenic drive spans about 185 km and takes roughly 6 hours from Kathmandu to reach Besisahar.

As we traverse the route, soak in the breathtaking scenery, and upon reaching Besisahar, marvel at the majestic snow-capped peaks of Lamjung Himal that adorn the landscape. For those seeking an extra adventure, we also have the option to extend our journey to Ngadi village on the same day, utilizing a local Jeep.

Day 06:: TREK TO UPPER PISANG | (3,300m / 10,827ft) - LODGE

After a peaceful night in the pine-scented air of Chame, your morning begins with a warm breakfast served around 7:00 AM—though your guide is always happy to adjust to your pace. With your bags packed and spirits high, the journey toward Upper Pisang begins.

The trail gently climbs along the Marsyangdi River, weaving between forests and cliff faces. Soon, you pass through Bhratang, a village embraced by sheer rock walls and apple orchards. As you continue, the valley broadens, revealing sweeping vistas of Annapurna II, Lamjung Himal, and even distant Manaslu.

The terrain rises gradually, allowing you to savor each step without strain, and every turn offers a new frame of Himalayan beauty. Prayer wheels, suspension bridges, and small settlements decorate your path until the final ascent brings you to Upper Pisang—perched high on a ridge with one of the most rewarding panoramas on the Annapurna Circuit.

Upper Pisang's traditional stone houses and fluttering prayer flags welcome you to a quiet mountain haven. Here, the views of Annapurna and Gangapurna seem almost unreal, especially at sunset when the peaks glow gold and crimson. Spend the evening enjoying hearty Himalayan hospitality at the best available lodge, surrounded by silence, stars, and sacred mountains.

Day 07:: TREK TO NGAWAL | (3,660m / 12,008ft)- Lodge

Your day begins with crisp mountain air and a nourishing breakfast before you follow your Sherpa guide onto one of the most celebrated high trails of the Annapurna Circuit. Leaving Upper Pisang behind, the path rises steadily toward Ghyaru (3,670m/12,040ft), a beautifully preserved Tibetan-influenced village balanced above the valley. The ascent is demanding, but the views are nothing short of legendary—Annapurna II, III, IV, and the majestic Tilicho Peak rise sharply across the horizon, as though carved from crystal.

The ancient stone pathways, lined with chortens and prayer walls, guide you through villages that feel frozen in time. Children run past with shy smiles, monks chant in distant monasteries, and yaks graze peacefully in terraced fields. This higher route is more strenuous than the lower trail, but it is an invaluable acclimatization gain—your body adjusts naturally as you move deeper into the highlands.

Arriving in Ngawal is like stepping into a serene Himalayan sanctuary. The village is adorned with vibrant prayer flags, traditional homes, and wide-open views stretching across the Annapurna range. It's a tranquil place to rest, reflect, and prepare for the higher adventures waiting ahead on the trail.

Day 08:: TREK TO MANANG | (3,540m / 11,614 ft)- Lodge

With the morning sun lighting up the rooftops of Ngawal, you begin a gentle descent after breakfast. The trail winds through open meadows where dry stone walls, roaming yaks, and scattered juniper bushes paint a tranquil alpine scene. As you lose elevation gradually, the giant faces of Gangapurna, Chulu, and Annapurna III keep constant watch over your journey.

After roughly three relaxed hours, the valley widens and the village of Manang appears—a cultural crossroads of Tibetan heritage, monasteries, and centuries-old traditions. Upon arrival, you settle into your lodge and enjoy a warm lunch.

The afternoon is dedicated to acclimatization. Your Sherpa guide will lead you on a light hike, helping your body adapt to the thinning air while offering insights into the local lifestyle, rituals, and geography. The evening in Manang is peaceful, filled with prayer flags fluttering in the wind and the distant sound of bells from nearby monasteries.

Day 09:: Acclimatization in Manang - DAY HIKES - LODGE

Outside your lodge, the crisp Himalayan breeze and towering peaks set the scene for an important acclimatization day. Under the care of your seasoned Sherpa guide—whose decades of experience ensure your safety—you head out for a rewarding high-altitude hike.

You may choose to explore Gangapurna Glacier, where the turquoise lake and looming ice walls create a dramatic, unforgettable landscape. Or ascend toward Praken Gompa, perched high above the valley, where monks live in solitude and the entire Annapurna range unfolds below you like a living mural.

Feeling energized? Both hikes can be done for those who want to make the most of their acclimatization. Throughout the day, your guide monitors your pace and comfort while sharing stories about the region, Buddhist culture, and the unique ways of life in Manang.

The evening brings another cozy night in the lodge—perfect for rest, warm meals, and preparation for the heights ahead.

Day 10:: DAY HIKE TO ICE LAKE (KICHO TAL) AND BACK TO MANANG

After an early breakfast at your lodge in Manang, your experienced Sherpa guide will lead you on one of the most rewarding acclimatization hikes in the Annapurna region—the spectacular ascent to Ice Lake (Kicho Tal). This full-day hike is longer and more demanding than the previous acclimatization options, but the rewards are extraordinary. The trail climbs steeply above Manang, passing through yak pastures, juniper bushes, and high-altitude desert landscapes. As you ascend, the panoramic views widen with every step—revealing breathtaking perspectives of Gangapurna, Annapurna II, III, and IV, Tilicho Peak, and the sweeping Manang Valley far below.

Reaching Ice Lake at 4,620 meters (15,157 feet) offers exceptional altitude gain, making it one of the most effective acclimatization hikes before moving toward higher elevations—especially crucial for your Chulu West Peak climb. At the lake, you'll be welcomed by a tranquil turquoise pool set beneath dramatic rock walls and glaciated summits, creating a truly unforgettable Himalayan setting. After spending time enjoying the scenery and allowing your body to adjust naturally to the altitude, you'll descend back to Manang for a warm meal and a well-deserved rest.

Day 11:: TREK TO YAK KHARKA | (4,050m / 13,287 ft) -Lodge

After two restorative nights in Manang, your journey continues toward higher alpine terrain. Leaving the greenery behind, the trail climbs gradually along the Marsyangdi River, where the air grows cooler and the forests give way to wild meadows.

Crossing the Jharsang Khola, you enter a quieter, more remote stretch of the circuit. The landscape spreads out into wide pastures dotted with junipers and grazing animals—true high-Himalayan scenery. The steady ascent helps your body adapt naturally to the increasing altitude.

By midday, you reach Yak Kharka, a calm grazing settlement surrounded by sweeping views of Annapurna and Gangapurna. This peaceful stop is ideal for preparing your body for the next big section of the circuit. The afternoon is relaxed—rest, hydrate, and enjoy the serenity of this high mountain plateau.

Day 12:: TREK TO CHULU WEST BASE CAMP| 4,900 m/16,076 ft- Tented Camp

Traversing challenging trails, we immerse ourselves in the raw wilderness of the Himalayas, greeted by panoramic vistas of snow-capped peaks and pristine valleys. Finally, we arrive at Chulu West Base Camp, situated at an altitude of 4,900 meters (16,076 feet) above sea level.

The pass, Thorung La, stands at an altitude of 5,416 meters and offers breathtaking views of the Annapurna range, Gangapurna, and Khatung Kang. The descent from the pass involves a drop of approximately 1,600 meters, offering stunning vistas of Dhaulagiri mountain in the distance.
