In a city of Kathmandu and Nagarkot tour and its surrounding area, we visit the Buddhist stupa of Swayambhunath Stupa. This sits proudly on a hill located in the Kathmandu Valley. The temple is the recognition mark of Nepal and has been arrested on multiple photographs. The temple has four pairs of eyes, which are the all seeing eyes of Buddha and look in the four cardinal directions. You will also visit the Kathmandu, Patan and Bhaktapur Durbar Square. This was once the royal palace and residence of the king before he was converted into a museum. Around the palace courtyard, many other ancient temples and monuments find such.

We drive to Nagarkot which is Located 30 km east of Kathmandu, the path leading to Nagarkot Bhaktapur and Thimi through. Nagarkot is the most fashionable village of the valley. Fields you can admire terraces all around and the best views of the Himalayas that are from the ridges surrounding the valley. The mountains of Jugal, Khumbu and Rolwaling are visible, including a distant view of Everest by beautiful weather. People come here by bus or taxi from Bhaktapur. Nagarkot can also serve as a starting point for short walks to Changu Narayan, Sankhu, Sundarijal and Banepa.
